*Audo introduces the Pavot Collection
– sculptural vessels created in collaboration with New York aesthete and designer, Colin King.*

The Pavot Collection exemplifies a harmonious blend of form and function, where ancient influences meet contemporary craftsmanship on a series of artfully crafted vessels, created for Audo by Colin King. The Pavot Centerpiece, the Pavot Bowl and the Pavot Vase are each cast in aluminium and finished in a brown bronzed patina, imbuing them with a vintage character that feels timeless yet modern.

Design elements are both delicate and bold, with elongated silhouettes, soft curves and subtle footed bases that feel both familiar and new. Each piece in the series draws inspiration from the organic shape of a poppy seed head — hence its French name, Pavot and evident in the oval form on the foot.

The Pavot Centerpiece serves beautifully as a standalone sculpture or catch-all vessel, adding a compelling focal point to any surface. The Pavot Bowl's gentle curves and textured finish make it an ideal choice for holding small objects or enhancing a side table with its understated sophistication, while the Pavot Vase, with its elongated form and nod to natural beauty, brings height and elegance to floral displays or stands as a striking solo piece.

The Pavot Collection is not suitable for use with food.

About the Designer

Professionally trained as a dancer, Colin King found himself at the intersection between a dancer's awareness of space and a stylist's impulse to bring it to life before foraying into the realm of product design. Currently based in Tribeca, New York City, he balances being on set, styling and designing from his studio. He is continuously inspired by life's everyday rituals, gestures and imperfections — made beautiful by their ever-evolving presence within a given space.
